Helping teachers purchase supplementary learning materials so they don't have to buy them themselves or ask parents to buy them.

Fund additional teachers to help support students who need additional learning. Current teachers don't have time to spend with those who need additional learning time and some don't think they should have to. In addition, passing a worksheet out or having a student study complete an online tutoring program, IXL, Study Island, etc. is not teaching students. This is not just about checking a box. Provide individual instruction from teachers who have a passion in helping students overcome obstacles. Teachers are busy, overwhelmed, etc. Make it fun! Don't just give worksheets and put kids on a tutoring site and call the problem being addressed.

NA

Education about hygiene to stop the spread

No

Completely random idea that I haven't thought all the way through... Would it be possible to use funds to pay teachers that want to participate in after
